Dr. Louise Simard, SMA researcher at Sainte-Justine Hospital of Montreal and a Project Cure SMA Team member, is taking her commitment to finding a cure for SMA to a new level. Beginning on September 29, 2003 she will walk 129 miles (218 km) on a pilgrimage in Northern Spain to raise money for SMA research.

Dr. Simard will join other pilgrims as she follows the "Way of St. James" known as the first apostle to be martyred. Her walk will take on an additional significance as each physical step she takes could bring us a step closer to finding a treatment or cure for SMA through the funds she is raising. All the funds that Dr. Simard raises will be donated to Families of SMA.

THANK YOU VERY MUCH!!!
